

I think that the public has a right to be protected from telemarketers. The worst part is that telemarketers call sometimes as late as 10:00pm when we are in bed sleeping already. I have had to shut the ringers off on my home phones, and even turn the answering machine volume completely off just because of telemarketers. I get about a dozen calls a day starting anywhere from 7am till 10pm, 7 days a week! They never leave messages on my answering machine, and they always continue to call back about every hour or so per day/night. Since I no longer EVER answer my house phone, they have begun calling my cell phone!! I am sick of unsolicited phone calls, and believe that we should have the right to sue a company if they repeatedly harrass us even when asked not to. ESPECIALLY WHEN THEY CALL A CELL PHONE! I only have 1000 min per month, after that it's $0.40 per call...incoming and outgoing. Are the telemarketers going to pay my cell bill? If you take this right away from us to be able and sign up for no-call lists, then you better find a way to financially reimburse all of us for our stress, time, cell phone minutes, etc!
